

Indiana's 2008 Companies to Watch winners continue to generate new jobs and economic opportunity across the state. Here are recent milestones achieved by some of our inaugural 2008 Companies to Watch winners:

Company; City Highest Ranking Official	2009 Projected FTE* Growth	Revenue Growth		Milestones
		2008	2009
AIT Laboratories Indianapolis Michael A. Evans, president/CEO	62.6%	106%	90%	Introduced new division in pharmaceutical operations.
Custom Mechanical Systems Corp. Bargersville Mercedes O. Enrique, president/CEO	No change	20%	33%	Received the Robert B. Flowers Small Business Award from the Society of American Military Engineers for key contributions to the U.S. military.
Elona Biotechnologies Greenwood Art Patterson, CEO	35.7%	40%	20%	Developed two subsidiaries: R & D Enterprises and Zimmerman Biotechnologies. Also filed two IND (investigational new drug) applications for biologics in the U.S.
Exacq Technologies Fishers Dave Underwood, president	20%	212%	35%	Gained 180 new customers, introduced two product lines and moved to a new office, which more than doubled its space.
Inter-Cambio Express Elkhart Isaac Torres, president	11.3%	23.5%	15%	Received incentives and tax credits to relocate to Elkhart, allowing room for additional employees and its state-of-the-art data center.
MainGate Indianapolis David Moroknek, president/CEO	9.7%	36%	20%	Celebrated new partnerships with the Detroit Lions and the Kansas City Chiefs, which includes managing orders for each team's online retail store.
Micropulse Columbia City Brian Emerick, president/CEO	9.8%	20%	5%	Adopted a cellular manufacturing model to increase efficiency.
NTsupply.com Indianapolis Todd Anthony, CEO	31.3%	31%	20%	Improved margins by offering more profitable products and discontinuing less successful lines.
POLARIS Laboratories Indianapolis Bryan Debshaw, CEO	9.7%	21%	10%	Opened its fourth testing facility, its first in Canada; developed a web-based platform to give global clients access to its fluids analysis data.
Sensory Technologies Indianapolis Anne Sellers, managing principal	No change	11%	4%	Introduced several new product lines and improved internal processes.
T2 Systems Indianapolis Mike Simmons, CEO	7.2%	30%	5%	Named the Mira IT Company of the Year and won the Boys and Girls Clubs of Indianapolis "Dedicated to Caring" award.
Xtreme Alternative Defense Systems Anderson Pete Bitar, president/CEO	71%	5%	150%	Grew its workforce by 50%, introduced new products for the U.S. Department of Defense and transitioned from pure R&D to manufacturing.

* Full-time equivalent employees