

Employees spread cheer to four families in need through the St. Vincent Hope for the Holidays program.

By Symone C. Skrzycki

Hall Render

MAKING A WINNING CASE FOR WELLNESS

"I've always viewed the firm as my professional family, second only to my family at home. There are great opportunities (for employees) to infuse the two. When we do that, everybody has a much better appreciation for each other and what value they bring to the table."

*John Ryan
President and managing partner*

Victory! The Hall Render team struts its stuff at the Indiana Sports Corp.'s Corporate Challenge.

Firm snapshot:

- Provides health care organizations with full-service legal representation
- Approximately 350 total employees
- Offices in Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Washington, D.C.

Major clients:

St. Vincent Health, Hendricks Regional Health, Hancock Regional Hospital and Union Hospital.

Priority for fun:

The firm celebrates summer with staff outings to the Indianapolis Zoo, Victory Field, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and other venues. This year, roller coasters and water slides will be part of the fun at King's Island.

"It's a family event. It helps give a sense of camaraderie not just for our employees, but also beyond."

Giving back:

Employees have volunteered their time and talents to Habitat for Humanity, soup kitchens, charitable walks/runs and others to make a difference.

Rising to the challenge:

The Indiana Sports Corp. Corporate Challenge is a two-day event that features a fitness walk, distance runs and activities revolving around football, golf, soccer, cycling and more.

In 2013, Hall Render earned first place in the legal division (for the seventh consecutive year) and took the top spot in a competition based on company size (its sixth consecutive win in that category).

"We're a very healthy, competitive bunch here."

