

A HEALTHY DOSE OF SUMMER

With summer comes opportunities to get outside and be active, so it's apropos that our August edition includes a strong focus on health and wellness.

That starts with the cover story on mental health and how employers can and are playing a pivotal role in the well-being of their staff. Indianapolis Colts owner Kalen Jackson also talks about the team's Kicking the Stigma campaign started by her late father, Jim Irsay, to raise mental health awareness.

BizVoice® spoke with Hoosiers across the state about improving overall health outcomes. Whether it's providers, employers or even communities, Indiana's stakeholders are banding together to get the state on track when it comes to obesity, addiction, smoking and more.

Also critical in the world of healthcare is insurance. The Indiana Chamber and its partners have announced an elevated ChamberCare health plan that is poised to be a difference-maker for Hoosier small businesses seeking competitive rates and high-value coverage.

The importance of artificial intelligence is documented in a series of spotlights on different industries, as well as thought leaders, offering workforce implications on the technology that may surprise you.

We then travel down I-69 to visit Monroe County. Certainly Indiana University has a ripple effect for the region, as do the business leaders, economic development arms and nonprofits that keep the county bustling. Defense contractor TRISTAR, which is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year, and Oliver Winery's third-ever CEO Pat Brown also are featured.

And as always, the arrival of late summer means we're gearing up for our Annual Awards Dinner on November 5. This will be our 36th iteration of this popular event, and we're thrilled to feature keynote speaker Daymond John. He is a trend-setting entrepreneur who founded the FUBU clothing line and perhaps best known for sinking his teeth into many innovative ideas on ABC's hit show, Shark Tank.

Thank you for your continued support, and enjoy your reading!
